OESE UPDATES

2021 PRESIDENT'S BUDGET PROPOSAL

Expanding Education Freedom for Students

- Education Freedom Scholarships (EFS) would provide up to $5 billion in additional education funding to help more than 1 million students across the country find their education fit
- This proposal would dramatically expand the options available to families
- States, not the Federal government, will design their own programs aimed at serving their students. Each State's family eligibility requirements and allowable uses of scholarship funds will be aligned with their State's unique needs
- Funded by private, voluntary donations, EFS does not do a thing to change any funding amount already allocated to public school students or public school teachers

Empowering States to Best Meet the Needs of Students

- The Elementary and Secondary Education for the Disadvantaged (ESED) Block Grant consolidates most K-12 formula and competitive grant programs administered by the Department into one $19.4 billion formula grant program
- This proposal builds on the promise of ESSA and right-sizes the Federal role in education by empowering States and school districts to spend Federal taxpayer funds the way they see fit to best support their most disadvantaged students
- Funds would be allocated using the same formulas as the Title I Grants to Local Educational Agencies program
- States and local districts could use the funds for any authorized purposes of the consolidated programs, while continuing to meet accountability and reporting requirements aimed at protecting students, supporting school improvement, and providing parents the information they need to make education decisions for their children

Early Childhood Homelessness State Profiles

Data Collected in 2017-2018

Early childhood experiences with homelessness have long lasting impacts on a child's well-being. Access to educational services can help mitigate some of these negative effects.¹ Federally-funded early childhood education (ECE) programs are only able to serve a small portion of children who experience homelessness. Taking action to mitigate the impacts of early childhood homelessness is critical to ensuring all young children have the opportunity to thrive.

TALKING POINTS

- Homelessness has many causes
 - <https://nche.ed.gov/wp-content/uploads/2018/10/introduction.pdf>
- The number of homeless students increased...again
- Sometimes numbers go up because things are going badly
- Sometimes numbers go up because identification improves
- Funding increased, but not faster than the population increased
- Identifying students is the first step; now we need to help them

ACTIVITY

- Download district-level homeless enrolled data (FS118/DG655) on your State; School years 2010-11 to 2017-18 are available.
- Consider downloading other relevant information like the number of homeless students served by Title I, Part A schoolwide programs or targeted assistance programs (FS037/DG548) or academic achievement (Mathematics: FS175/DG583; Reading/language arts: FS178/DG584).

QUESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION

- How has the number of homeless enrolled children and youth changed over time? Which districts have outpaced the overall state change in homelessness?
- What factors (economic, demographic, programmatic) have impacted these counts?
- How can these data inform program administration?
- What other information would be helpful to look at in addition to these data?

Jasmine Hayes, Deputy Director
U.S. Interagency Council on Homelessness

February 26, 2020

Interagency Working Group: Purpose

Strengthen implementation of different federal definitions of the term homeless and provide support to communities to better respond to housing and services needs.

Including:

- Stronger shared vocabulary to describe different living situations
- Increased clarity about differing housing and services needs
- Better identify and capture different experiences of homelessness within federal programs and data systems

Possible Targeted Federal Funding for Consideration

Diverse array of programs across DOJ, DOL, ED, FEMA, HHS, HUD, VA, HUD-VA, HUD-DOJ to address housing, education, employment, health, mental health, etc.

What Comes Next?

- Continue to refine program inventory of targeted federal programs
- Begin to identify range of non-targeted federal programs (e.g., mainstream housing assistance, American Job Centers, YouthBuild, TANF, early care and education)
- External stakeholder input on developing tool(s) and content
- Identify federal resources to support development and dissemination of tool(s) and related materials

Proposed Timeline

- November 2019: Continue to refine proposed approach with Council Policy Group and working group; solicit first round of external input
- December 2019: Present proposed approach to Council
- January-March 2020: Stakeholder engagement
- April-May 2020: Revise proposed tool in response to stakeholder feedback
- June 2020: Test tool with select stakeholders
- July-August 2020: Revise tool in response to stakeholder feedback
- September 2020: Release tool

Note: Timeline and milestones are pending commitment from participating federal agencies to contribute resources (e.g., TA support) for development and publication of proposed tool.

General Discussion

- How would this kind of tool be helpful to you in your work?
What's missing?
- We're thinking about different platforms for how this tool could be accessed (e.g., online, phone app, printed document, etc.) – do you have preferences for how you might access this kind of tool?
- What additional stakeholder groups should we be talking to as we continue to refine our approach? What about when we're ready to test (and eventually launch) the tool?

Thank you

Leadership as Moral Craft

- Focus on excellence, not competence
- Create an “institution” - a learning community
- Inspire followership – followers respond to ideas
- Leadership based on professional authority – commitment to the professional ideal
- Leadership based on moral authority – creating a sense of obligation and duty based on values, ideas, and ideals
- Be a “servant leader” – empower others

The Developmental Stages of Leadership

The Stages of Leadership

- Transactional - What gets rewarded gets done. What is rewarding gets done

1. Leadership by bartering - leadership exchanges something with followers

- Transformational - What is good gets done.

2. Leadership by building - create climate and interpersonal support for the success of others
3. Leadership by binding - shared set of values, bond together in a common cause
4. Leadership by bonding - committed to set of shared ideas, morally obligated to the cause and each other

Transformational leaders led by purpose, empowerment, and outrage (moral action).

Leading the Learning Community

“Communities are defined by their centers of values, sentiments, and beliefs that provide the needed conditions for creating a sense of “we” from “I.”

- Creating a feeling of family
- Creating an atmosphere of collegiality among homeless liaisons, homeless service providers, and other agencies
 - Mutual respect, shared work values, cooperation, and specific conversations about supporting homeless children and youth
 - Creating a professional work culture held together by shared norms
 - Norms are aligned with the program purpose and contribute to increased commitment and extraordinary performance

Value Added Leadership

- The virtues of leadership
 - Hope - realistic hope: understand the facts, but focus on the better outcome
 - Faith - commitment to the cause
 - Trust - established first, we have to trust each other to work together
 - Civility - "builds frameworks within which people can cooperate despite their divergent views and interests"

"Leadership is more about helping people understand the problems they face, helping them manage these problems, and even helping them learn to live with them."

Be a craftsman - be an empathetic and effective developer of people, empower others, and bring out the best in them.
